

Document 10: Doping in Sports - Challenges and Regulations

Doping refers to the use of prohibited substances or methods to enhance athletic performance. It undermines fair play and poses health risks. Anti-doping agencies conduct testing and enforce regulations to detect and prevent doping. Education and strict penalties aim to maintain integrity in sports. Despite efforts, doping remains a significant challenge worldwide.