

Document 14: The Business of Sports

Sports generate billions in revenue through ticket sales, broadcasting rights, sponsorships, and merchandise. Professional leagues and clubs operate as businesses, investing in talent and infrastructure. Sports marketing and media play key roles in fan engagement. Economic impact extends to tourism and local development, making sports a significant industry.